

Scholarship 2020 Application Form

About the “Grainger Wind Symphony Young Players Scholarship”

The Grainger Wind Symphony Young Players Scholarship (the Scholarship) seeks to encourage talented young woodwind brass, percussion, string bass players and percussionists to pursue wind music beyond secondary school. We are keen to receive applications from low brass, horn, percussion and double reed students.

The Scholarship is awarded to one or more woodwind, brass, percussion or string bass players who have fulfilled the required conditions of the Scholarship. The successful applicant(s) will be judged to have displayed strong technical, musical and ensemble skills appropriate to their instrument, and have demonstrated sound sight-reading skills. Ideally, in addition to the aforementioned, the successful applicant(s) will display an enthusiasm for and appreciation of wind band music and a desire to be an active member of the wider wind band scene.

The Scholarship is awarded on an annual basis and covers:

- Financial membership of The Grainger Wind Symphony for a year
- A seat in rehearsals for a year
- A double pass to all GWS concerts for one year
- Performance of a solo work at the Grainger Wind Symphony’s final concert this year, and receive 25 tickets for their school.
- The audition provides another opportunity for VCE Music students to gain performance experience.
